Name: ..... Date:.....

Fill in the blanks with the right parts of speech to complete the story.

Alfred's New House

Once upon a _____(noun), there was a boy named Alfred who decided to build a _____ (adjective) tree house. He _____ (verb) through his yard picked up all the spare pieces of _____ (noun) that he could find. He _____(verb) small ones and big ones and piled them all up near the oak tree. He figured he would also need _____ (noun) and a hammer to assemble his tree house. He went to his father's workshop and found a good-sized hammer that he could use. He _____ (verb) in the drawers and finally found a _____(noun) and started building his _____ (adjective) tree house. By supper time, Alfred was tired, but he was _____ (adjective) of his work. The tree house looked _____ (adjective). Now, all he had to do was put it up in the tree. Maybe his dad could _____ (verb) with that.